

Marcia Hefker

Photo credit: Mongol Derby

Racing Across Mongolia

Marcia Hefker

Wed., January 25
6:30 p.m.

Santa Fe Sheriff's Posse
3213 Rodeo Rd., Santa Fe, NM
(next to the Chavez Center)

The longest horse race in the world is the 600-mile-long Mongol Derby. New Mexico's own Marcia Hefker was a winner in the summer of 2016. She visits from Raton to share her experience.

Free and open to the public.

Marcia grew up riding horses on her family's cattle ranch in Carrizozo, New Mexico. About 15 years ago, Marcia traded barrel racing and roping for long-distance horse races. Today, she lives and works in Raton, NM as a nurse practitioner tending to residents and cowboys in the rugged northeast.

Presented by Northern New Mexico Horsemen's Association and Santa Fe County Horse Coalition

For more information, see NNMHA.net or call 505-469-2698